DECLARATION OF ADRIAN RISKIN

- 1. My name is Adrian Riskin. I have personal knowledge of the facts contained in this declaration, and if called to testify, I could and would testify competently as to the truth of the facts in this declaration.
- I run an online blog called MichaelKohlhaas.org to increase government transparency and practice civic activism using the Public Records Act and to teach other activists how to use the Public Records Act.
- 3. I submit 15-20 Public Records Act requests a week for various agencies, including the City of Los Angeles.
- 4. Sometimes the City of Los Angeles emails the responses to me, sometimes they send links to cloud storage, sometimes they make me come to the City's offices to look at them on paper, and sometimes they mail them to my house. They sometimes use a program called NextRequest. My understanding is that NextRequest is a commonly used cloud sharing service which allows the government to upload documents and CPRA requesters to download the documents using a personal log-in. The City of Los Angeles has its own subdomain through NextRequest at lacity.nextrequest.com through which it can upload its CPRA responses. Each request is assigned its own number.
- 5. Because I was regularly requesting the daily clean-up schedules from the Department of Sanitation, the City of Los Angeles agreed to produce the daily clean-up schedules without me having to submit a formal Public Records Act request. The Department of Sanitation uploads the documents to NextRequest each morning and I am able to access the records by logging into NextRequest.

//

6. Attached as Exhibit A to this declaration are true and correct copies of the daily clean-up schedules from February 12, 2020 through February 24, 2020. I received these schedules through NextRequest using my personal log-in as part of Request #19-4996.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on February 24, 2020 in Los Angeles, California.

Adrian Riskin
